

Preserve free and open use of the internet unencumbered by corporate interest. Use should be dictated by quality and content, not by an aberrated desire to manipulate access.

This amounts to book burning for the digital age.